

Dear

You have requested that Wells Fargo Advisors, LLC ("Wells Fargo") send confidential information about the account(s) maintained by you, your spouse or spousal equivalent, and dependents, as the case may be, at Wells Fargo to Ernst & Young US LLP ("EY"), its affiliates and related entities, and their contractors and vendors (collectively, "Authorized Recipients") in order to assist in your compliance with your independence compliance requirements of EY and its affiliates. Wells Fargo has agreed to honor this request. Please be advised that you continue to remain responsible for, among other things, the accuracy of the information in your securities portfolio in the EY US Independence Monitoring System (the "Tracking System") used by EY and its affiliates to monitor compliance with all Independence Rules and Policies and all independence-related representations that you make to EY and its affiliates.

As detailed in Wells Fargo's Client Account Agreement and Disclosure Document received by you or your spouse or spousal equivalent when the applicable account(s) were opened, protecting the privacy of personally identifiable information is a priority for Wells Fargo. Therefore, Wells Fargo and EY have established policies and procedures designed to comply with applicable laws regarding the disclosure of personally identifiable information, and both Wells Fargo and EY have agreed to treat the information supplied by Wells Fargo relating to the accounts listed below in accordance with such policies.

Because of the importance of maintaining the privacy of such information, we will need you (on behalf of yourself and any minor dependents) and the joint owners of any accounts you list below (i.e., your spouse or spousal equivalent or dependents over the age of majority), as the case may be, to approve the release of account information to the Authorized Recipients. Joint owners of the accounts listed below must sign this document in order to authorize the release of such information to the Authorized Recipients. In the event you wish to have the information of an account you do not own released to the Authorized Recipients, the owner of such account (i.e., your spouse or spousal equivalent or dependents over the age of majority) must sign this document in order to authorize the release of such information to the Authorized Recipients. Therefore, by signing below, you (on behalf of yourself and any minor dependents) and any other owner or joint owner of an account listed below, if applicable, authorize Wells Fargo and/or its clearing firm, First Clearing, to give access to the Authorized Recipients to any and all information regarding the below listed account(s) at Wells Fargo, including, but not limited to, name(s) of you and the other owners or joint owners of the accounts, as the case may be, your and/or their address, telephone number and email address, and account numbers, name of broker, transaction dates, security exchange, and the ticker symbol, ISIN number, SEDOL number, CUSIP number, the security type, and names of securities held, bought or sold in such accounts ("Confidential Trading Information").

No information regarding the number of shares owned or the dollar value will be transmitted.
