Wealth planning that understands your game plan

Managing your wealth isn't just about maximizing your money.
It's about maximizing its impact.

LifeSync® is our advice and planning experience that helps you align your financial priorities with your values and make the right decisions at the right moments, no matter where in life those moments happen.

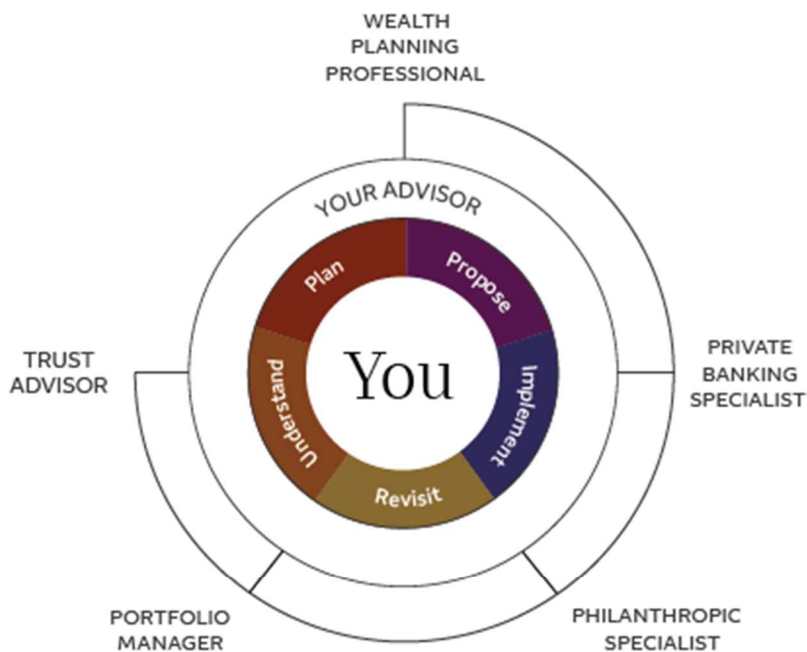

The LifeSync® experience

The five stages of the LifeSync experience help you identify what you value most, and how your money can help make the most of what you value.

1. Understand: What are the things that you value most?
2. Plan: How can your money make the most impact?
3. Propose: What are your options and how do they play out?
4. Implement: What is your next step?
5. Revisit: Are you still on track?

Working with your advisor, you have access to a team of professionals with the experience and skills to holistically address your unique needs.

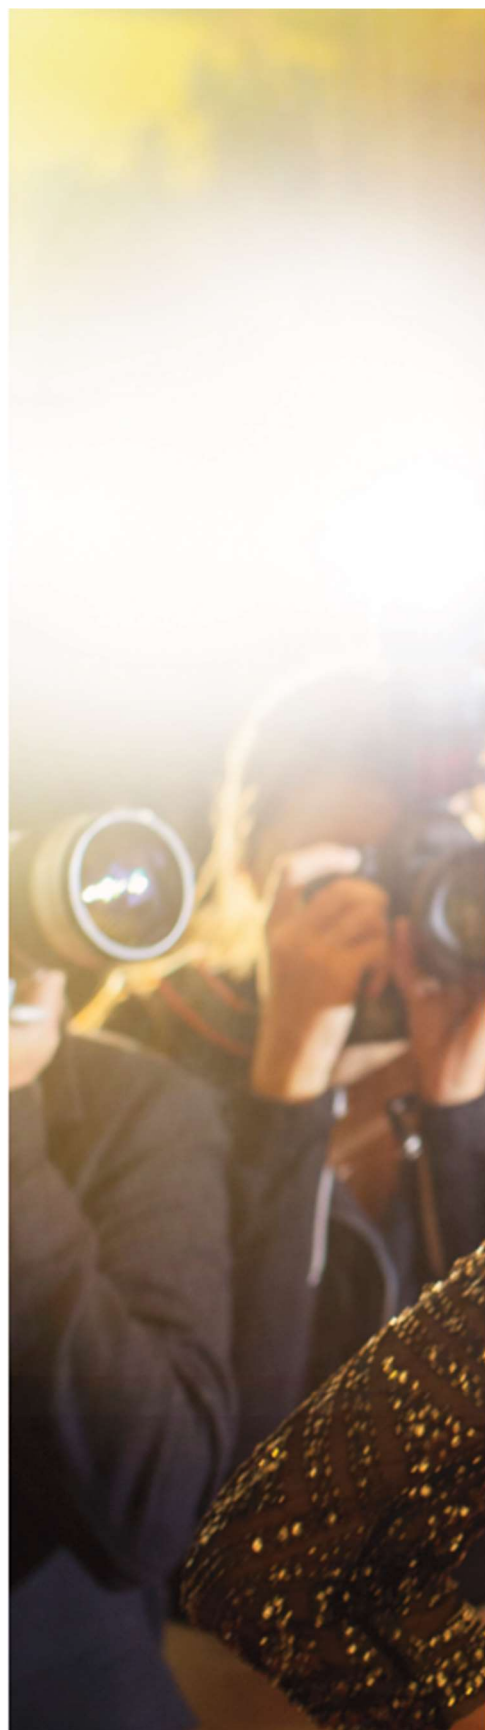

There's an entirely different playbook at this level

And sometimes earning isn't the hardest part

Preserving and building on what you've established — that can often be the real challenge. We can provide access to a team of highly credentialed specialists built to find the opportunities that fit your unique situation.

Advice to match your ambition

1. There's nothing common about sports & entertainment professionals, so we'll look for uncommon strategies to match your lifestyle and career trajectory.
2. Bringing our specialized sports & entertainment experience to the table, you'll get tailored advice from a wealth management firm that's done it all before.
3. Taking a team approach, we can assemble a wide range of specialists to turn your financial and philanthropic vision into reality.

Putting your money where your heart is Giving back to a community or organization that means the world to you can be incredibly rewarding and transformative for both you and the next generation.

Wells Fargo's philanthropy team will help you make a measurable impact and to meet your philanthropic objectives. We provide services to individuals, families, foundations, nonprofit organizations, and endowments, including:

- Assistance with understanding the various philanthropic vehicles
- Guidance in establishing your philanthropic vision, values, and mission statement
- Access to Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) investing options to further your philanthropy

We'll work collaboratively with you through every stage of our Giving Continuum — from planning to impact — to ensure your philanthropic goals are met.

Every career — and what comes after — is a journey

And how far it goes can depend on who goes with you.

By reaching the pinnacle of your profession, you've unlocked rewards most won't have — and challenges most won't face. Understanding your world as we do enables us to provide precisely crafted solutions that support your unique needs.

Making your dream a reality was the first step. Let's take the next one together.
