

WELLS
FARGO

Advisors

An Investor's Guide to Separately Managed Accounts

Separately Managed Accounts (SMAs) provide investors access to professional money management and flexibility to customize their portfolios to personal needs and investment objectives.

Investment Products:

NOT FDIC Insured | NO Bank Guarantee | MAY Lose Value

Source: pexels.com

What is a Separately Managed Account?

A Separately Managed Account (SMA) is a type of investment vehicle comprised of individual securities such as stocks, bonds, mutual funds, ETFs, and/or cash that is managed by a professional money manager.

Since the structure of a SMA allows investors to directly own the individual securities in the portfolio, they provide the following unique benefits:

Customization

Investors can request their specific portfolio(s) be customized in a variety of ways by excluding specific securities or social sectors.

Tax efficiency

Investors are only taxed on realized gains in their specific portfolio(s). This differs from mutual funds where capital gains are distributed to all investors.

Investors have the potential to manage taxation of gains and/or losses through various tax harvesting strategies*.

Investors may also realize estate tax savings on inherited portfolios and can deduct charitable gifts of securities from their portfolios*.

Transparency

Monthly statements and quarterly performance reports provide details on the overall portfolio as well as the individual securities so investors can understand how their investments are performing.

Professional money management

Successful investing requires a significant commitment of time, energy, and attention. While most investors manage their investments part-time, money managers focus their entire careers on managing investments by developing disciplined approaches to buying and selling securities.

Quality

Investment strategies available at Wells Fargo Advisors are carefully evaluated by the Wells Fargo Investment Institute on an ongoing basis. The research process focuses on qualities such as experience, performance, management capabilities, and investment philosophy.

How can SMAs be customized?

Customization allows investors the opportunity to tailor portfolios to their specific needs and personal circumstances. This unique feature of SMAs can be used for a variety of reasons.

Overexposed positions

Example: An investor has a large, concentrated position in a specific stock. This can result from an employee working for the same firm for a long period of time or securities overlapping those in other portfolios.

Solution: A SMA allows investors to customize their portfolios by restricting or excluding stock they already own.

Responsible investing

Example: An investor wishes to align their investment objectives with their personal values or has an interest investing in companies that integrate environmental, social, or corporate governance practices.

Solution: A SMA allows investors to exclude securities or entire sectors that do not align with their values. Some SMA strategies also incorporate this philosophy into their investment strategy. Common restrictions include alcohol, tobacco, and gambling stocks.

Tax selling strategies

Example: An investor falls into a high income tax bracket and is looking to minimize unexpected tax liabilities.

Solution: Since investors directly own the securities in their portfolios, realized capital gains can be offset by selling investments with a capital loss in the portfolio through year-end tax selling strategies*.

*Wells Fargo Advisors and its affiliates do not provide legal, tax, or accounting advice. Please consult your tax advisor regarding your situation.

Please note: Security restriction requests and tax selling requests are implemented based on approval by the money manager.

How do SMAs differ from other investment options?

SMAs have several unique features that differ from mutual funds and exchange-traded funds (ETFs) that can provide key advantages when building a portfolio.

Which investment options are available?

Wells Fargo Advisors offers several SMA programs that can be tailored to investor's needs. Strategies range from specific asset classes to fully allocated portfolios and are backed by research from the Wells Fargo Investment Institute (WFII).

Allocation Advisors

Professionally managed portfolios investing primarily in Exchange Traded Products (ETPs) with strategic, tactical, cyclical, global, or inflation-oriented allocations. Designed for investors looking for a portfolio that can help provide diversification while keeping underlying investment costs to a minimum.

Wells Fargo Compass

Professionally managed portfolios constructed of stocks, bonds, and ETPs providing both strategic asset allocation and tactical adjustments in an effort to take advantage of market opportunities. Designed for investors who know their investment objectives and risk-tolerance but prefer to leave investment decisions to professionals.

Masters

Provides access to top professional money managers with pre-negotiated minimums and fees, ongoing research and evaluation of money managers from WFII, and a variety of investment options. Designed for investors who seek an investment program based on research, analysis, and an active approach to asset allocation.

Private Advisor Network

Provides access to top professional money managers with a variety of investment options within a dual contract relationship where minimums and management fees are negotiable. Similar to the Masters program, but designed for investors who desire more flexibility in terms of fees and/or portfolio customization.

Customized Portfolios

Provides access to specialized investment portfolios and portfolio models offered through Wells Fargo affiliates. These include custom fixed income, options, and social impact investing (SII) strategies. Designed for investors seeking a higher level of customization.

Diversified Managed Allocations (DMA)

Allows investors to combine SMAs, mutual funds, ETFs, and professionally managed blends into one comprehensive, customizable account. Designed for investors who prefer the efficiency of a single account that can hold multiple investments.

Important Disclosures

Fees for advisory programs include Advisory services, performance measurement, transaction costs, custody services and trading. Fees are based on the assets in the account and are assessed quarterly. These fees do not cover the fees and expenses of any underlying exchange traded funds, closed-end funds or mutual funds in the portfolio, which also carry inherent risks related to the product's underlying investments. There are minimum fees and account sizes to maintain these types of accounts. Advisory accounts are not designed for excessively traded or inactive accounts, and may not be suitable for all investors. During periods of lower trading activity, your costs might be lower if our compensation were based on commissions. We need to review your investment objectives, risk tolerance and liquidity needs before we introduce suitable managers/investment programs to you. Please carefully review the Wells Fargo Advisors advisory disclosure document for a full description of our services, including fees and expenses.

All investing involves risk, including the possible loss of principal. There is no guarantee that an investment manager will achieve the objectives of the portfolio.

Wells Fargo Investment Institute, Inc. (WFII) is a registered investment adviser and wholly-owned subsidiary of Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., a bank affiliate of Wells Fargo & Company.

Wells Fargo Advisors is a trade name used by Wells Fargo Clearing Services, LLC and Wells Fargo Advisors Financial Network, LLC, Members SIPC, separate registered broker-dealers and non-bank affiliates of Wells Fargo & Company.

©2019 Wells Fargo Clearing Services, LLC. All rights reserved.

CAR-0819-01392